To reach other long-distance carriers, please follow the instructions on your calling card, contact your carrier, or access the following network carriers by dialing 9-10xxx* (LCI = 432, Sprint = 333, AT&T = 288).
*9-10xxx may be changed to 9-1010XXXX during Fiscal Year 1998.

Listed below are dialing patterns for some major carriers:

AT&T: 9-0-AAA-PPP-XXXX-Tone-card number or 9-10288-0-AAA-PPP-XXXX-Tone-card number
LCI: 9-10432-0-AAA-PPP-XXXX-Tone-card number

EXTENDED AREA CALLING

Extended Area Service for University business calls may be made to telephones located in the following communities without incurring a long-distance charge: Bondville, Fisher, Flatville, Gifford, Homer, Ivesdale, Mahomet, Ogden, Penfield, Pesotum, Philo, Rantoul, Royal, Sadorus, St. Joseph, Seymour, Sidney, Thomasboro, Tolono.

CALLING FEATURES ACCESSIBLE FROM ADMINISTRATIVE LINES (333, 244 AND 265 NUMBERS)

Consult the user guide for your telephone. Call 333-1161 for more information regarding features and services.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATIVE POLICIES

1. University regulations block third number billing and discourage collect calls to administrative lines.
2. University phone lines are set up to reject most collect and third number calls placed to them. Most phone lines are also restricted from placing "900" and "976" calls. These types of calls are not only expensive; they are often non-business related. If a department needs a 900 access, it may request the service.
3. Numbers secured from directory assistance should be recorded for future reference. All departments will be billed the published AT&T and Ameritech rate of $.95 for long-distance directory assistance (AAA-555-1212). The billed amount per call is $.30 for local directory assistance (411).
4. Person-to-person calls are very costly. Call station-to-station instead. A person-to-person call could add at least $4.00 to the cost of your call.
5. Personal calls should not be placed. Departments are responsible for initiating appropriate action against individuals who use the telephone for inappropriate personal calling. If a personal long-distance call is an absolute necessity, call collect or follow the procedures for using a personal long-distance calling card.
6. The University issues proprietary calling cards as a convenience for personnel who travel on University business or who find it necessary to place a long-distance business call from a telephone in some location other than a University office. University calling cards should not be used when placing calls from University telephones. Calling cards are issued to individuals and each is responsible for all calls placed on that number. The card may not be used by anyone other than the person to whom it is issued. Charges incurred by use of this card will be billed to the department via the monthly phone bill from CCSO.

   It is illegal to use a University calling card for personal calls. However, while traveling on University business, use of the card is permissible for placing calls to the individual's residence to report a safe arrival or when extensive travel is required. Allowable calls should be limited to five minutes every other day, unless a change in travel plans occurs and the family should be advised.
7. Approval must be obtained from CCSO before purchasing or leasing any telecommunications service or equipment from an outside vendor. Call 333-8499 for details on the procedure.

OTHER NUMBERS

For other numbers within the Office of Telecommunications, see the Campus Units listing under Computing and Communications Services Office.

CHANGES IN DIRECTORY LISTINGS

To change your telephone number or address, you must submit a new check distribution form at the Payroll Office. Be sure to do this if you have a change in telephone number; it will not be reflected in the next directory or the current telephone operator directory information unless you do.

RATES FOR NETWORK–LONG-DISTANCE CALLS

Rates are based on a percentage of AT&T Business long-distance charges. AT&T rates are calculated based on the distance from Champaign-Urbana to the city one is calling. To verify billed rates, contact the CCSO Administration Office at 244-1318.

INTERNATIONAL CALLS
All administrative telephones (244, 265, or 333 prefixes) programmed for international service have access to any international telephone number. To dial those areas, follow these steps:
1. Dial 9.
2. Dial 011 (the international access code).
3. Dial the country code.
4. Dial the city code.
5. Dial the local number.

(If you are calling from a touch-tone telephone, press the # button after completing the entire number. This will speed your call along.)
For example, to make a call to Glasgow, you would dial: 9 + 011 (international access code) + 44 (country code) + 41 (city code) + the local number.
Note: International "900 number type" calls are not allowed by the University; however, at this time, these calls cannot be blocked in the phone system. CCSO's initial billing will be based on fixed rate tables, but the calls could be rebilled based on actual cost.

Direct-dial calls to the following points should be dialed in the same manner as direct-dial calls within the continental United States, 9-1-AAA-PPP-XXXX: Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii. FOR INFORMATION ON OTHER COUNTRY AND CITY CODES, DIAL 9-0-0 AND ASK FOR THE INTERNATIONAL OPERATOR.
Country Codes also can be found at http://www.att.com/traveler/pip/ccodes.html

ACCESSING YOUR VOICE MAILBOX
From your office extension: Dial 4-0505. Enter your PASSCODE when prompted.
From another campus extension: *Dial 4-0505. (If you hear another user's name enter *.) Enter your 5-digit mailbox number plus . Enter your PASSCODE when prompted.
From off-campus: *Dial (217) 244-0505. Enter your 5-digit mailbox number plus . Enter your PASSCODE when prompted.
For more information regarding voice mail service, contact the Customer Service Office at 333-1161.

CELLULAR TELEPHONES
To ensure that appropriate state guidelines are followed, units wishing to purchase cellular phones and service should contact the Customer Service office at 333-1161 prior to contacting a vendor.
Guidelines for cellular telephone use:
- The use of University cellular telephones for personal calls is not allowed.
- Calls made from University cellular telephones to home, when in Champaign-Urbana, should not be made.
- Cellular telephone numbers should not be given to parties not affiliated with the University and/or University business. (Exception: family members, who only use in an emergency situation.)
- 900 calls should not be placed.
- 800 number calls made from cellular telephones are not free, therefore 800 calls must be for University business.
- Use of directory assistance calls (411, XXX-555-1212) should be minimal, one should keep a business directory with the cellular phone.
- Generally, employees who find it necessary to use their personal cellular phone for University business must do so at their own expense. However, if employees believe these calls should be paid for by the University, the employee must obtain prior approval from his or her department before making the call(s) and provide the department with the detailed bill. The University will not cover the cost of monthly service.
- In emergency situations, such as fire, flood, etc., it may be deemed that reasonable and just use of cellular telephones will be necessary.
- Types of charges (one or more types of charges will occur for each call and may appear on a different monthly bill.)
  —Mobile phone calls (calls made in the local area)
  —Roaming mobile phone calls
  —On-net intra-state toll calls
  —On-net inter-state toll calls
  —Central Management Services (CMS) calls (other charges and credits, for example, peak)
  —Mobile phone line access (cellular phone line) —Miscellaneous unknown charges
- For more information, call Customer Service at 333-1161

POCKET PAGING SERVICE
CCSO offers two types of pocket paging services to the campus. A campus/local area service provides pocket paging on campus and to surrounding communities: The system supports tone-voice, digital, and alpha/numeric pagers. Units are charged a flat monthly rate for the service and can purchase pagers thrugh the CCSO Customer Service Office. Pagers can also be leased for short-term requirements.
For paging needs that extend beyond Champaign County, statewide paging can be provided through CCSO from the State of Illinois Central Management Services. Both paging services can be used from telephones on or off campus, but digital paging access requires a touch-tone telephone.
Call the CCSO Customer Service Office at 333-1161 for more information and/or to order procedures for either service.

VIDEO CONFERENCE SERVICE
CCSO offers a video conference service that provides interactive visual and audio communication between other compatible video conference units. The video conference room is located in Room 14 Illini Hall. An identical arrangement is available on the UIC campus; communication with other locations is also possible. The service is available for any University-related activity, including distance learning, meetings, and interviews, discussion groups, lectures, and demonstrations. Use is billed at a set monthly rate plus per minute usage on the network. For more information and scheduling, contact 333-6285.
CCSO has a video multi-point conference unit (MCU) which will handle up to 8 different video (or audio) locations/sites on a call, with speed matching. This unit can be used from any video site that is on the campus video net. Basic costs are available on the CCSO Web site.

TELECONFERENCING SERVICE
Teleconferencing options are available from most campus telephones or through the campus operators.

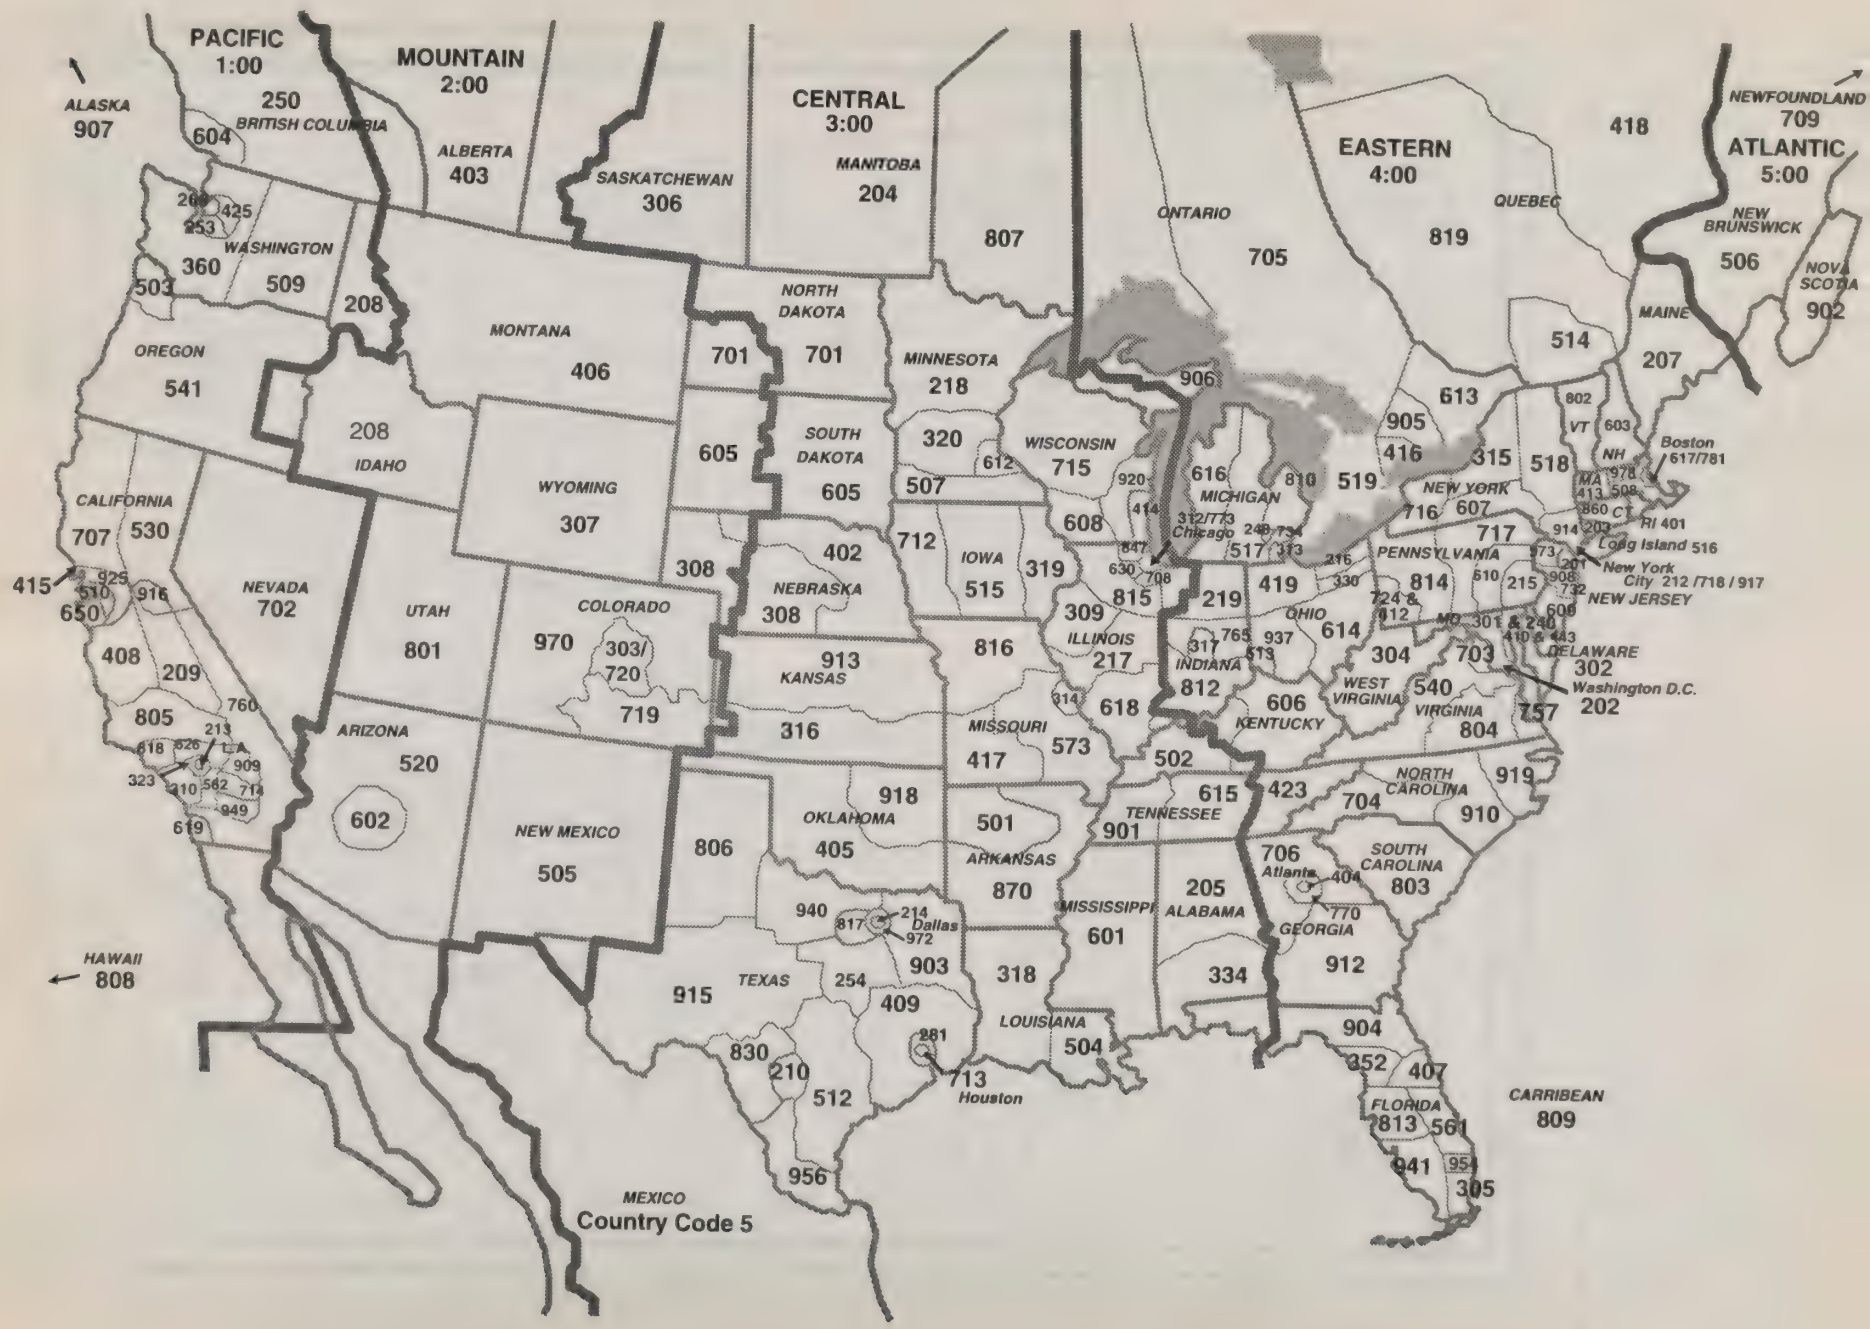
Operator-Arranged Conferences. If you have more than six parties who need to be part of a conference call or if you would rather the call be arranged by an operator, you have two options. Both of the operator conferencing services described below can accomodate up to twenty-nine conferees, on or off campus. The use of either service must be prearranged with the chief operator, and a charge applies to each. For more information about about either service, call 333-0133.

1. Operator conference. A campus operator calls each party and connects them together through the campus phone system.
2. Meet-Me conference. A campus operator makes a special conference facility available at a prearranged time. Conferees simply call a special conference telephone number and the phone system automatically connects them together.
3. 800 numberconference. Same as Meet-Me conference except all conferees call an 800 number to be connected to the conference. The sponsoring department pays for the conference facility as well as all 800 number usage.

Station-controlled conference. This type of conference call can be set up by the station user without the aid or expense of an operator.

1. Three-way conference. From a single-line telephone, establish the first call as usual, depress the switchhook momentarily and listen for a stuttered dial tone, dial a second party, depress the switchhook again. All three parties are connected. From a multi-line telephone, follow the procedure above but depress the CONF 3 button instead of the switchhook.
2. Six-party conference. From a single-line phone, establish the first call as usual, depress the switchhook momentarily and listen for a stuttered dial tone, dial the conference code 130. To add a conferee, depress the switchhook again and listen for the stuttered dial tone; dial the next number. After the party answers depress the switchhook again, then after the stuttered dial tone, dial the conference code 130. (Repeat for each additional conferee to be added.)

Note: Some single-line phones are equipped with a "tap or flash" button, which should be depressed instead of the switchhook.
For additional information and instructions for a six-party conference from a multi-line phone, consult your user guide or call 333-1161.



REMOTE TERMINAL SERVER ACCESS
- Dial-in calling for the community: If a user exceeds 20 hours per week on the campus dial-in terminal servers, they may request additional hours at $.30 per hour. Billing can be generated to user's department. Call the CCSO business office at 333-4349 for forms to establish this service.
- 800 dial-in calling for outside the local community: The cost is $.15 per minute. Contact the CCSO business office at 333-4349 for the necessary forms.

CAMPUS MAIL INFORMATION

Campus Mail Distribution Unit
Hours: Monday through Friday, 8 am to 5 pm
1109 West Main Street (MC-259)
Urbana, IL 61801
PHONE: 333-2029

The Campus Mail Distribution Unit, located at 1109 West Main Street, picks up and delivers all intracampus mail. Other services include delivery of library books on a limited scale, delivery of packages under 10 pounds, shuttle service to the Chicago campus for campus mail, and readdressing of undeliverable as addressed U.S. mail. Campus Mail Distribution Unit services are state-supported and are free of charge to University departments, support units, and student groups.

Addressing Campus Mail
Mail that is incompletely or inaccurately addressed may be delayed in delivery or may be returned to the sender for a more complete address. To avoid such delays, use the correct addresses and proper abbreviations for campus buildings as listed in "Campus Street Addresses" (page 98) and "Abbreviations" (page 2).

NOTE: MAIL CODES SHOULD BE USED ON ALL MAIL. To find a specific mail code, turn to the Campus Units section (page 28) or to the mail code list in the Buildings and Organizations section (page 104).

Campus mail delivery is provided for the normal flow of University mail. If a department has a heavy amount of mail to be delivered on campus, the mail can be dropped off at Campus Mail, 1109 W. Main, or arrangements can be made through the Office of Mail Services (333-6101) for pickup of this mail, which will then be taken to the Campus Mail Distribution Unit. A charge will be assigned for pickup or delivery service if the Office of Mail Services' services are requested. The address on a letter or package to be sent via campus mail should contain the following:

Name of person for whom the item is intended
Department name
Building and room number
Street address
Mail code

Any mailing involving over 100 pieces must be in mail code order.

Return Addresses
A large volume of U.S. mail arrives in Champaign-Urbana insufficiently addressed for proper delivery to the campus. This mail is forwarded to the Campus Mail Distribution Unit for readdressing. Such mail is given a thorough directory search for the proper address and is then sent on to its campus destination. This slows down the receipt of mail. To ensure that your mail will be delivered promptly to you, a correct return address should be used on all outgoing mail. The proper form for a return address is:

Name
Room number and building name
Department name
Institution or company
Street address
City, State and Zip code (plus four, if known)

Note: Be sure to use Urbana or Champaign as part of the address.

MAIL SERVICES INFORMATION

Office of Mail Services
Hours: Monday through Friday, 8:30 am to 5 pm

Champaign, IL 61820-6907
PHONE: 333-6101

The Office of Mail Services processes all outgoing U.S. and international mail as well as parcels and packages going via other carriers. It is a self-supporting unit and charges departments for all services performed.

The Mail Services staff is your liaison with the U.S. Postal Service. It will assist you with USPS requirements for the following:

- preparation for the greatest postage discounts
- fees and permits
- business reply mail
- metering, indicia, and precancelled stamping
- proper addressing
- mail piece design for Optical Character Recognition
- marking and endorsing mail
- acceptance procedures

Mail Services can help you with the design of your mail piece. It also offers assistance with your choice of mailing list and class of mail. It will see that you make the most economical choices and receive the best service. It has equipment available to burst, fold, insert, address, tab, and apply postage to all classes of mail. Mail Services can also make arrangements for alternative carriers, such as FedEx, UPS, and others. From letters to large packages, from first to Standard B class, it sees that your mailing project gets done in the fastest, most efficient way possible.

Mail Services staff members come to campus offices and pick up all of your daily mail, weigh and meter it, and see that it receives proper postage. This saves you the expense of renting a meter and can save hundreds of dollars in wasted postage. All mail is delivered to the U.S. Post Office on the same day that it is picked up from campus offices

To speed processing of mailing lists and to presort names and addresses for the lowest postage rates, the Mail Services Production Unit can now receive your address files over the Administrative Computer Network, on diskette, or on magnetic tape. The Data Processing Department can standardize your file according to USPS guidelines. Once your file has been cleaned up, it appends the carrier route and delivery point information before printing your mailing address. Addresses are printed in presort order to save you postage.

The Mail Services Production Unit also sets up accounts for any reoccurring monthly jobs such as storage or pickups and deliveries. For all types of jobs, call Customer Service at 244-5547.

Mailing Lists
The Office of Mail Services has access to several often-requested files such as the mailing lists of Deans, Directors, Departments Heads; Business Administrators; and of Illinois high schools. It can also locate commercially available mailings lists.

U.S. Mail
In order for the U.S. Postal Service to deliver U.S. mail on campus, address elements in a specific order are required.

Ways to Save Money on Mailings
- Consult Mail Services before you design any mail piece.
- Preschedule your mailings.
- Use the correct return address.
- Always include a letter of instruction with your mailing. Include department name, contact, phone, and account number as well as specific instructions for processing. Always include a sample of your mail piece with your instructions.
- Send your address file to Mail Services over the Administrative Computer Network. Call Mail Services at 244-5540 for format information or security clearance.
- Use proper format for permit indicia.
- Use the proper format for your Business Reply Mail. If using Mail Service Business Reply permit, always check with Mail Service before going to printing.
- Use the proper endorsement. The endorsement must be placed in one of four specific locations of the mailpiece with at least 1/4-inch clear space above and below the endorsement. Endorsements must be in at least 8 point Helvetica type (or equivalent). The same endorsement is treated differently on different classes of mail. Before using any endorsement, please contact Mail Services at 333-6101 for advice on proper endorsement and placement.
- Make sure your pieces can be processed by machine instead of by hand. Call Mail Services at 333-6101 for detailed instructions.

Special Services
Daily Mail Pickups: The service of Daily Mail Pickup provides complete processing and delivery to the U.S. Postal Service of outgoing daily office mail. Mail not marked for a particular class will be sent First Class. Envelopes larger than No. 10, business-size, should have the flaps closed or sealed. Envelopes should not be stuffed to the point they will split open in transit. For heavy materials use padded envelopes or corrugated boxes. All international mail traveling by air must be in envelopes.

Pickup and Delivery: For pickup and delivery needs, Mail Services has available within its fleet the type and size of vehicle to handle almost any request.

Freight Mail: When something is too heavy for the USPS mail system, Mail Services will make arrangements to have it shipped Automatic Labeling: Mail Services' automatic labeling equipment handles several sizes of Cheshire labels. The standard is 4 UP Cheshire. 4 UP Cheshire labels are printed on tractor feed computer paper, 4 across and 11 down per page. Contact Mail Services for exact specifications. The machine is equipped with its own glue.

Folding: Mail Services is equipped with several folding machines to accommodate most folding needs. However, a flat piece should not exceed 11" x 17". A piece of material folded in a "Z" fold or accordion style requires a special setup to be processed on automatic inserting equipment. When folding on automatic equipment, stapled pages should all be stapled at the top of the page in the center (with the pages even).

Inkjetting: Mail Services is equipped with small and large versions of inkjetting machines, which will spray the address, return address, permit indicia, or special message directly onto the mailpiece.

Inserting: Mail Services uses automatic inserting machines for inserting up to six inserts in an envelope as large as 9" x 12". The machine seals the flap and applies First-Class or Third-Class bulk-rate postage. Call Mail Services for specifications.

Packaging and Wrapping: Mail Services provides complete packaging. All articles are securely padded and wrapped to ensure safe delivery through the U.S. Postal Service or United Parcel Service. Mail Services is equipped with boxes for packaging, reinforced tape for sealing boxes, plastic banding for heavier items, and metal strapping for large, heavy crates. All packages are checked and tested to ensure proper transportation. If you prefer to package the materials for mailing, Mail Services can suggest the best procedure for the particular item.

Stapling: Stapling is mostly a manual operation. However, Mail Services is equipped to handle most stapling jobs. Staples should never be used on self-mailers. Staples prevent your mailpieces from qualifying for postage discounts from the U.S. Post Office.

Tabbing: Mail Services has a tabbing machine which automatically affixes a tab (or tabs) to your self-mailers. Tabbing is one of the requirements necessary to qualify for postage discounts from the U.S. Postal Service.

Electronic Mail Addresses

Electronic mail has come of age as a communications medium. Electronic mail combines the speed of the telephone with the convenience and accuracy of paper mail, making it an ideal communications tool. For the convenience of electronic mail users, electronic mail addresses are printed in the student/staff directory.

Registering Your Electronic Mail Address in the UIUC Electronic Directory (Ph)

Your electronic mail address must be registered in the electronic student/staff directory (also known as ph) in order for it to appear in this printed directory. There are several ways to register your e-mail address. If you already have an e-mail address, it is quite possible that your address is already registered in the UIUC Electronic Directory.

- If you obtain a new account on a Computing and Communications Services Office (CCSO) computer, you will be given the opportunity to register this address in the UIUC electronic directory.
- You may also register or change the e-mail address listed in your UIUC Electronic Directory entry by coming to the CCSO Account Services desk in the Resource Center at 1420 Digital Computer Lab. You must present your University ID before the Resource Center staff will change any information for you.
- Finally, you can register the e-mail address yourself by logging in to the CCSO Electronic Directory with a "ph client" (see the section below called "Changing Information in the UIUC Electronic Directory" for more instructions).

Advertising Your Network ID-based Electronic Mail Address

Your Network ID-based electronic mail address is listed in this printed directory. This address is provided for you by CCSO and consists of your Network ID (also called a "ph alias") followed by "@uiuc.edu." The Network ID appears on the University i-card.

Mail sent to your Network ID-based address will be automatically redirected to the e-mail address registered in your electronic directory entry. The advantage of listing your Network ID-based address is that it never changes, even if the specific location of your e-mail box changes; you need only register your new address in the UIUC Electronic Directory, and mail sent to your Network ID-based address will be delivered to the new address. Your correspondents need not be notified of the change, since the address they use (your Network ID-based address) will not change.

The Nameserver: Access to Information through Ph

In addition to electronic mail addresses, the UIUC Electronic Directory also contains entries for each campus unit.

To use ph from a UNIX or VMS or computer, type ph followed by the name of the person or unit you want to look up. For example:
ph john doe

        name: doe john
       phone: (217) 333-1010

The last line of this display shows the electronic mail addresses. The Network ID-based address is shown first (in this case, "jdoe@uiuc.edu"). The specific electronic mail address is shown in parentheses after the Network ID-based address (in this case, "jdoe@staff.uiuc.edu").

If ph has more than one screen of information to display, it will pause between screens. To see the next screen, press the space bar.

Ph normally prints only a selection of the information it has about a person. To see all the information about someone (including such things as home phone number), add return all to your ph command; for example, ph john doe return all. Due to privacy considerations, some fields (such as home_address and home_phone) are only visible to UIUC machines.

Ph has numerous other options and capabilities. Documentation on these features can be found within ph. To access this documentation, type ph by itself. You will be put in ph's interactive mode, and you will see a ph> prompt. Type help to get a listing of the available documentation; type help name-of-topic-you-want to get the documentation on a particular topic. Help introduction and help manpage are topics of special interest to beginners.

There is a read-only World Wide Web (WWW) UIUC Electronic Directory client available at http://www.uiuc.edu/cgi-bin/ph. In the future, the WWW client will allow you to edit certain fields, removing the necessity for ph interactive mode, described below.

Changing Information in the UIUC Electronic Directory

You can change some of the information in the UIUC Electronic Directory. However, to do this, you must know both your ph alias and your ph password. You may change fields like email, nickname, proxy, and www. Changes to addresses and phone numbers are made through U of I Direct (for student information) and the Employee Information Form available from Payroll (for staff information). For a complete reference to Electronic Directory fields, see http://www.uiuc.edu/ccso/pubs/FAQs/ph/ph.html.

Your Network ID (also known as your ph alias) is a unique name by which you are known in the UIUC Electronic Directory — no two people have the same Network ID. Besides allowing you to edit parts of your electronic directory entry, your Network ID/ph alias is used for a variety of purposes. It is the first part of your Network ID-based address and it is also used to log in to various campus computing resources, including U of I Direct (UIUC's online registration system), the CCSO dialup communications servers, and ph itself. If you don't know your Network ID/ph alias, you can look it up in ph with a command like ph john doe return alias.

Your ph (also known as Nameserver) password is initially the same as your Network ID password. If you forget it, you must come to the CCSO Resource Center (1420 DCL) in person and present a valid University ID. This inconvenience is necessary to prevent disclosure of your password to third parties.

Once you have your Network ID and password, you can log in to ph and change information in your entry. First log in to a computer that has the ph program installed (ph is available on all of CCSO's central service UNIX machines). Next enter ph's interactive mode by typing ph at the UNIX prompt. When the ph> prompt appears, enter login your-alias (don't type "your-alias" literally—type your ph alias); when you are prompted for your password, type it.

There is no way to access interactive mode or change your ph entry with the ph client in Eudora. See below "Courtesy Access to Ph" for a way to access interactive mode if your only ph client is Eudora.

Now you are ready to make changes. Your entry is divided into separate pieces of information called fields. The names of these fields are displayed to the left of their values. To see all the fields in your entry, type me. To add a field to your entry or to change the contents of an existing field, type make name-of-field="whatever-you-want-in-the-field." You can obtain a list of valid field names with the fields command. When you are finished making changes, type quit.

Here is an example ph session:

ux1>ph
200:Database ready.
ph> login jdoe
Enter nameserver password: type-your-password-here
200:jdoe:Hi how are you?
ph> make hours="8:30am-5pm, M-F"
200:1 entry changed.
ph> make email="jdoe@department.uiuc.edu"

200:1 entry changed.
ph> me
-------------------------------------------------
          alias: jdoe
           name: doe john
          email: jdoe@department.uiuc.edu
            ...
          paper: no
          title: sr res programmer hours: 8:30am-5pm, M-F
-------------------------------------------------
ph> quit
200:Bye!

You can also have changes made to your UIUC Electronic Directory entry by going to the Account Services desk at the CCSO Resource Center at 1420 DCL. You will be asked to show your University ID.

Courtesy Access to Ph

Ph is available on hundreds of campus computers including all of CCSO's public UNIX machines, as well as computers in the CCSO public sites. If you do not have ph on your computer, ask your systems administrator about having it installed.

Read-only access to the UIUC Electronic Directory is available via the Web at http://www.uiuc.edu/cgi-bin/ph.

CCSO also provides free access to ph on the computer staff.uiuc.edu. This computer can be accessed over the campus network (telnet staff.uiuc.edu), or by dial-up. If you are contacting staff.uiuc.edu by telnet, log in as phones with no password. If you are dialing in with a modem to contact staff.uiuc.edu, dial 333-3700 and when you are prompted for a login, type phones. When you are prompted for your terminal type, you can just press return. If you have a different type of terminal or terminal emulator, type its name (the CCSO microcomputer consultants, 244-0608, can help you find the right name for your terminal). Once you have entered your terminal type, a ph> prompt will appear, and you will be able to use ph commands.

For More Information

Questions about the UIUC Electronic Directory that are not resolved by ph's help command can be directed to the CCSO Resource Center help desk (1420 DCL, phone 244-1258). A detailed user guide for ph is also available at the Resource Center and on the World Wide Web at the following URL:

Recycling at the University of Illinois

Illinois legislation signed in the fall of 1990 requires state-supported colleges and universities to reduce their waste stream by 40 percent by January 1, 2000, and to adopt purchasing policies that increase procurement of products with recycled content.

On the Urbana-Champaign campus we must eliminate more than 32,000 cubic yards of waste per year to comply with the legislation. Fortunately, the campus already has a progressive recycling program (adopted February 1989) operated through the Campus Recycling Offices in the Operations and Maintenance Division and the Housing Division. Last year, the campus recycled thousands of pounds of materials. With the help of everyone on campus, the University should continue making progress toward meeting its waste-reduction goals.

What the University Is Doing

Currently the University is recycling or recovering more than twenty different materials, including office and computer paper (the largest part of the waste stream), cardboard, plastics, motor oil, aluminum cans, scrap metal, automotive parts, yard waste, laboratory chemical waste, sawdust, and tires.

The University also has adopted a policy to buy products made with recycled content.

The Purchasing Division will purchases recycled/recyclable products whenever cost, specifications, standards, and availability are comparable to non-recycled/non-recyclable products.

The Purchasing Division will assist you to:

1. identify and project needs that exist within the University for equipment, supplies, and services for which recycled/recyclable products might be available.
2. identify suppliers that can competitively supply recycled/recyclable products.
3. structure bids to permit bidders to offer both non-recycled and recycled products.

Call the Purchasing Division at 333-3505 for help with ordering recycled/recyclable products.

Recycled copy paper is available at the same price as regular copy paper in the eight Printing Services copy centers. For larger printing projects, any recycled sheet may be ordered. Printing Services is also a registered user of soy ink. Printing with soy ink can reduce the use of petroleum-based ink.

Call Printing Services at 333-9350 for more information.

How To Participate

As stated earlier, recycling services are provided through two offices—Campus Recycling and Housing Recycling. Campus recycling operates in the academic buildings, while housing recycling is responsible for University-owned undergraduate residence halls and graduate/family housing units. The primary aim of both offices is to make recycling accessible and convenient to students, faculty, staff and campus visitors.

In order to meet the needs of the University community, recycling bins are provided across campus to retrieve recyclable materials including cans, cardboard, paper, and plastic. Each bin is labled and appropriate guidelines are provided. Such guidelines are posted to encourage program participants to use the correct bin when recycling. In University residence halls, recycling containers are located on each floor and in all public areas including lounges, vending rooms, laundry rooms and office areas.

Any questions and/or concerns regarding recycling and the services provided should be directed to one of the following addresses:

World Wide Web

The Student/Staff Directory provides World Wide Web addresses (called URLs) for all campus units that maintain information on the Web. If you are not yet familiar with the World Wide Web, the following introduction will briefly acquaint you with what it is and how you can use it both to find information about the University (and hundreds of other subjects) and to publish information about yourself or your department.

What Is the World Wide Web?

The World Wide Web is hundreds of thousands of computers around the world, connected together, with the ability to exchange information using a special, common language. On this campus there are nearly 1000 computers that are host to more than 200,000 documents and files than you can access with a networked computer equipped with Web browser software. Beyond the campus, millions more pages and files are available to you, each having a unique address called a URL. The Web and its contents can be both static and quite dynamic, with some pages changing within minutes. URLs are included in this directory so you can find find my information on World Wide Web. When entering a URL address in your browser software, use upper and lower case letters exactly as shown. Most popular graphical browsers don't require you to enter the "http://" portion of the URL.

How can I find something on the World Wide Web?

One way to find what your are looking for is to copy the URL from this directory or any another printed source into your Web browser and click Enter.

Another way is to use a Web site that has a main menu that you already know, such as the campus main page at http://www.uiuc.edu. You can then navigate through its menus, clicking on appropriate highlighted links until you find what you are looking for.

A third way to find information on the Web is to use any of the popular World Wide Web directories. These directories categorize Web sites by topic, and, in some ways, are like the yellow pages in a phone book. In addition, they provide links to click on which take you to the Web site you may be looking for. One large and very popular directory is Yahoo, located at http://www.yahoo.com.

A fourth method for finding information is to use a Web search engine. Search engines provide a Web page with a "window" in which you to enter one or more keywords words about your topic. When you click the "search" button, a computer attempts to find pages containing your keywords in its database of Web pages. Successful use of search engines requires that you know something about the databases they use. Some trial and error is required as well. You can search through nearly all 200,000 Web pages on campus by using the search window on the campus main page at http://www.uiuc.edu. or http://www.uiuc.edu/search.html. Many Web sites, on and off campus, have search engines just for searching through the pages within their site. Some search engines, like HotBot, located at http://www.hotbot.com, can search through most of all the millions of pages from throughout the entire World Wide Web in just a few seconds. Others can be quite specialized, searching only specific topics. Success using search engines often takes practice.

How can I use the World Wide Web?

If you want to learn more about an organization, a product, a service, a place, a person, a word, the news, and much more, the World Wide Web can often help. The quality and timeliness of information on the Web varies widely from site to site so pay careful attention to sources and dates. Many sites are run well while others have long since been abandoned. The campus Web provides timely news and information about activities, policies, programs, people, and events both on campus and in the community. Nearly all colleges, departments, and service organizations provide Web sites to help users learn more about them. Faculty often use the Web to help students access lecture and course materials, assignments, and much more. Many offical campus publications are on the Web, including manuals on policy and procedures, course catalogs, timetables, and Programs of Study. Users can search the full text of reference works, including the Oxford English Dictionary, Britannica Online, Bartlett's Quotations, Roget's Thesaurus and much more. The Web offers access to academic research, news, sports, travel, shopping, and much more. There are Web sites on nearly any topic you can think of and some you've never dreamed of.

What software do I need?

You need Web browser software installed on your computer to access pages on the World Wide Web. Most popular browser software is freely and legally available for downloading to your computer from the CCSO archives at http://uiarchive.uiuc.edu and from companies like Netscape at http://www.netscape.com or Microsoft at http://www.microsoft.com. Browsers exist for many types of computers. The CCSO Resource Center in room 1420 of the Digital Computer Lab can help you obtain a browser for your computer (telephone 244-1258 or email consult@uiuc.edu). The text-only browser "Lynx" is installed on many CCSO UNIX machines.

How do I use a Web Browser?

Methods for navigating and viewing documents on the Web are similar from one graphical browser to the next. Start your Web browser by double-clicking on its application icon. A default Web page will often automatically be shown. Go to a specific Web page by typing the URL in the location or address window and then hit Enter. Web pages can be viewed from top to bottom by sliding the vertical scroll bar with your mouse. Navigate from page to page by clicking on special text or images. These "links" are often highlighted text or special images and icons. After following one or more links, the forward and back buttons in the browser can be used to retrace your path backward and forward through the documents you have already visited. Browsers provide a "bookmark" feature which saves the address of a page so you don't have to know the URL to return to it.

How do I publish on the Campus Web?

Organizations, departments, and individuals on campus can freely publish on the campus Web. You'll probably need to learn how to create or convert existing documents to the Web's hypertext markup language (HTML). CCSO can help and so can the Web itself, which has extensive resources for learning how to create and publish Web pages. Many people start with the NCSA Beginner's Guide to HTML at http://www.ncsa.uiuc.edu/General/Internet/WWW. The Yahoo directory has links to HTML tutorials, editor software, style guides, and much more. The Yahoo HTML page is at http://www.yahoo.com/Computers_and_Internet/Information_and_Documentation/Data_Formats/HTML. Some word-processing programs can save files in HTML format making it easier to publish on the Web.

Web pages or HTML files must be stored on a computer running Web server software to be available users with Web browsers. Your personal Web pages can be stored within your free CCSO UNIX account. Place HTML files within your home directory and in a subdirectory you create named public_html. Be sure the file has the extention .htm or .html. Check the CCSO page at http://www.uiuc.edu/ccso/docs/where-to-put-web-pages.html for more help.

Campus organizations can use CCSO's free Web server at http://www.uiuc.edu but with some limitations. Check the following URLs for insructions:

- Campus units: http://www.uiuc.edu/ccso/services/unit_webspace.html
- Registered student organizations: http://www.uiuc.edu/ccso/services/ro_webspace.html

Guidelines and recommendations for publishing official campus Web pages are maintained at http://www.uiuc.edu/help/creating.html.

You can also set up some computers to host Web pages. Software for this purpose is available for several platforms and operating systems. If you set up your own Web server, you may be able to provide advanced Web services and features that are not available on the free CCSO Web server.

How do I request a link to my Web site?

The campus Office of Public Affairs and CCSO maintain the main campus Web pages. To add a link on those pages to your site or to recommend a link to any other site, send email to webmaster@uiuc.edu and include:

1. the full URL of your page
2. the full URL of the menu pages that you want your link to appear on
3. a short description of your page/site
4. your name and campus email address

How do I get my URL and link added to the electronic Student/Staff Directory?

Personal and departmental Web pages can be registered in the electronic student/staff directory, also known as ph, by adding a "www" field to the ph entry. The "www" field should contain the URL of the home page for the person or department who owns the ph entry. Once a Web page has been registered in ph, you can advertise a machine-independent URL for the page, based on the ph alias. The syntax for the URL is http://www.uiuc.edu/ph/www/ph_alias where the ph_alias is replaced with the actual ph alias for the entry containing the URL. Using the machine-independent form of the URL will eliminate the need to inform people if the location of the page changes. The campus Timetable and Courses Catalog provide links to faculty home pages for those faculty who have recorded their home page URLs in ph. For more information on the ph home page redirector, go to http://www.uiuc.edu/ccso/ph.homepage.redir.html. You can also add a link to your Web page in the campus People Page, an extensive list of student and staff home pages. Register its address in ph as described above and then fill out the registration Web form at http://www.acm.uiuc.edu/webmonkeys/uiuc-people/signup.html

University of Illinois Bicycle Guidelines

OPERATION OF BICYCLES

Any bicycle that is operated or parked on campus must be registered with the Division of Campus Parking and must be operated at all times in accordance with the current University Bicycle Code. There is no fee for this registration. Bring the following items and information to the office at 1110 W Springfield, Rm 201, Urbana, IL 61801:

- Bicycle's serial number
- The type of bicycle (make, model, and color)
- Your social security number and a photo ID

A complete copy of the regulations can be obtained from the Division of Campus Parking. A partial list of the regulations follows.

- Bicycles on campus must be registered.
- Most current bicycle registration is for an indefinite period, and registration renewal is not required unless the registration sticker becomes unreadable or there is a change in ownership. Any bicycle displaying a registration sticker that has an expiration date must be reregistered. A replacement should be obtained from the Division of Campus Parking if a registration sticker becomes damaged.
- Each bicycle must be equipped with an audible warning device, brake, and lights.
- Every person operating a bicycle must do so in obedience to traffic control devices and rules of the road applicable to motor vehicles under Illinois state law and to regulations included in the University Bicycle Code.
- Bicycles should be ridden only on bicycle paths or—where there are no paths—on streets. They SHOULD NEVER be ridden on campus sidewalks.
- Whenever a bicycle crosses a pathway used for pedestrian travel, the operator of the bicycle must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians.

BICYCLE PARKING

Bicycles can be parked on campus only in an area that has a "Bicycle Parking Area" sign or that has bicycle racks. Lack of available space within a specific bicycle parking area is not a valid reason for violating this regulation.

Within any bicycle parking area, a bicycle must be parked in a manner that obstructs only one of the positions provided by the bicycle rack.

Within a bicycle parking area, parking that obstructs entrance or exit is prohibited.

No person should leave a bicycle unattended without first locking it securely to a bicycle rack.

IMPOUNDING BICYCLES

A bicycle can be impounded if it is parked in an unauthorized place or manner, if it is not properly registered, or if it appears to have been abandoned. The Division of Campus Parking & Transportation is not responsible for damage to locks or bicycles during the course of impoundment.

When a bicycle is impounded, notice is sent within fifteen days to its registered owner at the address given on the latest registration form on file with the Division of Campus Parking & Transportation.

Any impounded bicycle that is not redeemed within thirty days after notice is considered abandoned and will be disposed of by the University. Impounded bicyles can be reclaimed by calling the Division of Campus Parking & Transportion and paying an impoundment/storage fee.

FURTHER INFORMATION

This map was produced as an aid to bicyclists. The user must realize that potential hazards exist along the routes. The University of Illinois does not warranty the safety or fitness of the suggested routes and is not responsible for your safety. You are strongly encouraged to follow the safety laws as outlined in the University Bicycle Code.
